Assisting with the art work were: Deane Yocom, Mildred Hanson, Jean Paige, Mary Thompson, Joaun Boulls, and Shirley Ballinger.

Members of the business staff were: Barbara Webb, Shirley Mauser, June Sorensen, Lillian Peterson, Lorraine Eisen, and Averill Whitlatch.

Activity writeups were handled by Marguerite Milton, Eugenie King, Marilyn Cooper, Mary Lou Adams, Louise Alseth, Kent Echelbarger, Jean Taylor, Gloria Tutmark, Jeanne Swanson, Scotty McClenney, Averill Whitlatch, Cathryn Sater, and Shirley Nelson.

The class organizations were written by Helen M. Johnson, Kathleen Ryan, Patty Hill, Lorna Swanson, Clara Stadler, Pat Davis, Barbara Daniel, Joyce Plumb, and Rita Yost.

Those who worked on Associated Students included: Beth Notar, Belle Supplee, Elizabeth Plunkett, and Marilyn Cooper.

It is through these students' hard and faithful work that we have been able to prepare this 1943 edition of the Echo.

Acknowledgments

This year we have worked under war conditions. Supplies have not been so easily obtained as in previous years, and labor shortages in the engraving, printing, and photography fields have had to be dealt with. To those who have met every deadline and have thus made this annual possible we owe a debt of gratitude.

Especially do we wish to thank Miss Loretta McSorley, art adviser, and her staff for their splendid cooperation.

Always ready to do a little more typing or to take on an extra job were Gloria Halstead, Patricia Pickett, and Cathryn Sater.

Bill Storey left for the navy near the beginning of the year, but not before he had had time to paint Shad Rack. Bill's job as boys' sports editor was taken over by Alan Langlois.

In the poetic field we would like to thank Rosalie Larson, Barbara Webb, Joan Applegate, Shirley Nelson, Kathleen Ryan, and George Evans, for their cooperation in composing "ditties".

Our effort, despite war shortages and restrictions both in and out of school, has been to put out an Echo worthy of the times and of our school.

THE EDITOR.

Spirit of Students

Students this year have foregone many accustomed activities and social affairs. Athletic contests, too, have been curtailed. In place of such things have come numerous tasks and projects furthering our war effort. You have turned to these more serious undertakings with a willingness and zeal which is wholly heartening and inspiring. Undoubtedly there are regrets for the dance, party or picnic which might have been. Your way of school life has been rudely disturbed.

In the pursuance of the worthier tasks, you are contributing to a noble cause. When you pause before your school's service flag and count the names shown there, you may proudly feel that you too in your way and sphere are doing your duty to your country, as they so magnificently are doing on the fields of battle.

They Work Here

From the student point of view, we wish to express appreciation to the office secretaries, to the custodians, and to the cafeteria supervisors for pleasant personal relations that make a definite part of our school life:

we students know LUELLA GUST, for absence slips are in her trust; each day comes faithful MRS. HILL, her place in school no one can fill; to MRS. YOUNG, the Edmonds cook, our thanks for all the pains she took; to help the cook is MRS. GAY, for whose good meals we can't repay; our MR. MILTON sure is tops, he keeps us warm when mer'cury drops; from MR. SHOCKEY'S great long broom, the dust just flies in each class room

Bucklin reflects on early days, 19 years on port commission

By TROY FOOS

EDMONDS — Back in 1948 at a small coffee shop, key members of the community talked about safety on the Edmonds waterfront and decided to form a public port, recalls outgoing Port Commissioner Harold "Babe" Bucklin.

Although he was only an interested bystander at the time, fresh out of the military, Bucklin remembers the beginnings of the Port of Edmonds, and how it has changed over the 19 years he has served as a commissioner.

"It's been a pleasure to see the way it has developed," Bucklin said. Increased safety, better service and financial stability are the success stories of the port, he said.

Following the philosophy that running a tight ship is the best way to keep from sinking, Bucklin takes pride in the financial surplus the port has maintained.

"It's been run like a business should be run," said Bucklin, who used to run his own business. "The one thing that has bothered me in government is indebtedness. It should not be the taxpayer's burden."

But Bucklin, 66, does see the demand for moorage at the port as a continuing problem.

"We've explored the possibility of expansion," Bucklin said. But, so far, there are no acceptable solutions to making more room for the 800 people on waiting lists for wet or dry storage at the port.

"Down the road, public demand will have to force some concessions," Bucklin said. The port has explored expanding to both the north and the south. But environmental concerns have stifled the efforts.

Although a solution to the lack of moorage may be a ways off, there is a study underway for another level of parking above the current lot at the port, Bucklin said. Relief to overcrowding could come with the extra parking.

Verdict tossed

two assault convictions related to non-fatal injuries the child suffered. Crane was sentenced to concurrent 10-year prison terms on those counts.

Larry McKeeman, chief criminal deputy for the Snohomish County prosecutor's office said he plans to file an appeal with the state Supreme Court.

McKeeman was disappointed by the Appeals Court's decision. "It was incorrectly decided, that's why we're asking the (state) Supreme Court to review it."

ALTHOUGH IT IS uncertain whether the state Supreme Court will accept the case, McKeeman is confident it will.

"It was not a unanimous ruling with the Court of Appeals," he said. "The issue needs to be resolved."

If the case is accepted for review, McKeeman said it would be several months before opening arguments begin.

Because defense attorneys never asked the trial judge to instruct the jury to decide which injury caused the boy's death, McKeeman believes he has a chance at persuading the state

According to Washington state trial procedures, the prosecution and defense can ask the judge to instruct the jury in specific ways as it begins its verdict deliberations.

McKeeman, along with other Snohomish County prosecutors, also might ask the state Supreme Court to strike down certain rules which allow a defense attorney to raise such issues on appeal that weren't raised in trial.

The state Supreme Court has the option of reinstating the conviction or upholding the lower court's decision.

If the Appeals Court decision is upheld, McKeeman said he would retry the case, "because it was overturned — not because of insufficient evidence, but because the jury was not instructed properly."

While this is not an example of a mistrial, McKeeman said the result is the same.

McKeeman also stated that there is no precedent in a case like this, so he has no idea what action the state Supreme Court will take.

"I don't know of anything like this," he said.

Because of his assault convictions, Crane will be imprisoned

"THE ISSUE that has always been there is our ability to accommodate people," Bucklin said. Striving to solve that problem will always challenge port commissioners, he noted.

Headway has been made with the hiring of Port Manager Bill Stevens, Bucklin said. "Our port manager is one of the best we've had in years."

And the port is always encouraging people to participate in the decision-making process, he said.

"I'm pretty pleased with what we've done," Bucklin said.

"It'll be tough to leave. I won't know what to do with the Monday meeting nights," he said. "I might go down to the port meetings and give them my two cents worth."

Mostly, Bucklin will be looking to spend time enjoying his retirement — spending more time with his grandchildren, travelling, and not hesitating to grab the rod and reel and go fishing, he said.

The Port of Edmonds is sponsoring a send off for Babe Bucklin, who is being succeeded by Jerry Blanton, elected in November. An informal reception will be held in the Surf Room, adjacent to the Yacht Club, from 5 to 7 p.m. Dec. 29.

Juniors

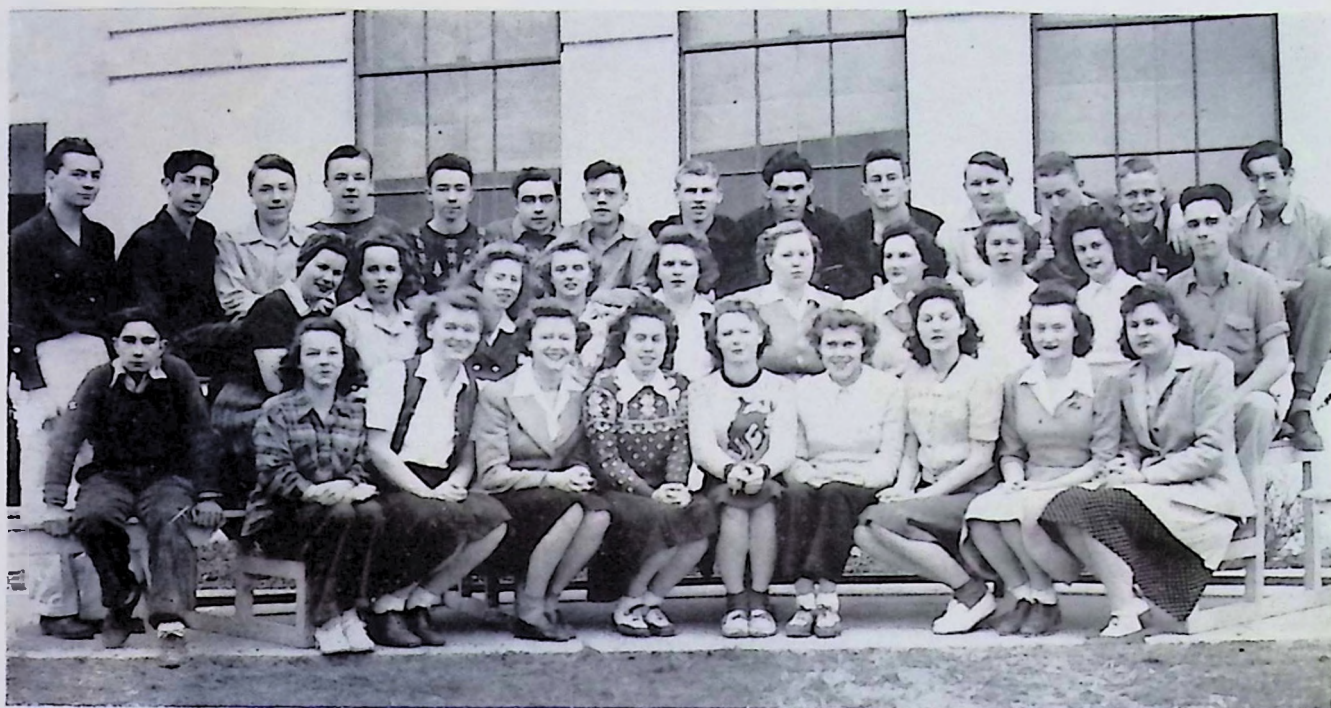

Our junior volatile balloon,
 Has floated through a haze;
 But when we grab the senior string,
 We'll pull from out our daze.

On September 8, the junior class of '44, under the advisership of Miss Laura Peltier and with a considerable number of new members, returned to E. H. S. all ready for work and eagerly looking forward to a new and successful year. Things were started by selecting officers: president, Kenny Blendheim; vice-president, Jack Jones; and Board of Control member, Beth Notar. Later, at another class meeting, a committee headed by President Kenny Blendheim was chosen to look into the matter of having class pins. The pins were decided on and ordered in December.

Owing to the war and the restrictions of the use of cars, the class was forced to forego such extra-curricular activities as the Junior Prom and other outside events often sponsored in sports and school activities.

The juniors boasted many members of Torch, including Alan Langlois, Gloria Elwood, Vernice Brine, Evelyn Wilson, Alvena Eales, Donna Wilcox, Mildred Hanson, Eugenie King, Shirley Mauser, Jeanne Swanson, Mildred Sweet, Maxine Sylvia, Gloria Tutmark, Bill Warner, and Jesse Thompson.

Girls' and Boys' Clubs also found several leaders from the class of '44. Among these were the vice-president of Girls' Club, Shirley Mauser; the vice-president of Boys' Club, Carl Trager; and the secretary-treasurer of Boys' Club, Kenny Blendheim. Junior girls active in the Girls' Club shop were Nancy Sorensen, Lois Hathaway, Jeanne Swanson, and Patty Hill.

First Row: Donna Wilcox, Nancy Sorensen, Maxine Sylvia, Evelyn Wilson, Shirley Mauser, Ardys Olson, Gloria Tutmark, Dolores May, Betty Maurer.
 Second Row: Omar Tharp, Betty Hutchinson, Audrey Proctor, Arline Siefert, Patricia Tillson, Mildred Sweet, Jeanne Swanson, Eugenie King, Joan Martinson, Don Roe.

Juniors

The athletic members of the class had a busy first semester. In football, Carl Trager, Kenny Blendheim, Roy Willis, Bill Tuson, Jack Jones, and Dan Ewing won awards, with Harold Airis managing the team. During the intramural volleyball season there were two members of the junior class, Jack Jones and Bernard Shilling, on the winning team.

The class started the second semester with the selection of new officers to carry on the outstanding work and activities the preceding officers had started. Those elected were: president, Patty Jones; vice-president, Donna Wilcox; secretary-treasurer, Jack Jones; and Board of Control member, Bill Tuson.

Along in April came the traditional junior play, this year "As Others See Us," under the capable direction of Mrs. Grace Bliss.

High scholastic ratings went to Alvena Eales, Vernice Brine, Evelyn Wilson, Patty Hill, Maxine Sylvia, and Audrey Weiler.

Sports continued successfully for class members, with basketball leading the list. Junior boys active in this sport, which is under the management of Alan Langlois, were Gene Blum, Jack Jones, Carl Trager, and Bill Tuson.

Girls' basketball was welcomed by an enthusiastic group of junior girls, including Nancy Sorensen, Lois Hathaway, Shirley Mauser, Eugenie King, Maxine Sylvia, Evelyn Wilson, Vernice Brine, Mildred Sweet, and Joann Ellison.

In the spring came the baseball season, which also was popular with many junior class students in both the boys' and girls' departments. By means of their persevering efforts, Lois Hathaway, Nancy Sorensen, and Mildred Sweet won the coveted first stripe and were initiated into Letterwomen.

Sophomores

We soph'mores are a jolly crew,
 We always keep on trying;
 No crack-up keeps us from our base,
 Our motto's, "Keep 'Em Flying".

Having completed two years of apprenticeship on the ship of education, the sophomore class of '45 will soon be ready to launch into the upperclass activities.

As underclassmen the members of this class have been very prominent in school activities.

With an enrollment of 113 students, the sophomores had their first class meeting to elect officers. The first semester officers were Dolly McArthur, president; Walt Chitty, vice-president; Donna Nadler, secretary-treasurer; and Ray Swinton, Board of Control member.

The officers elected for the second semester were Evelyn Henry, president; Gertrude Jacobson, vice-president; Emmett Aillaud, secretary-treasurer; and Jack Dahlberg, Board of Control member.

The members of the sophomore class took an active part in many activities and sports during the year.

Representing the sophomore class in football were Don Noyes and Walt Chitty, who made the playing squad and first team reserves. These boys also earned their first stripe and letter in football.

 Second Row: Ellen Ruple, Sylvia Smith, Dorothy Young, Phil Williams, John Skutvik, Roy Swinton, Kenny Turner, Bob Rust, Elmer Ruuth.
 Third Row: Helen Rheinbold, Pat Wilcock, Leah Shipley, Louise Siefert, Betsy Peck, Adrianne Morse, Dawn Lawson, Lorna Swanson, Clara Stadler, Joyce Meyers.

Sophomore

Most of the boys participated in the intramural volleyball, basketball, and boxing tournaments. Of these boys, Donald Bakken, Bob McNally, Douglas Daniels, and Bob Meredith made the second team in basketball.

Among the sophomore girls who turned out for sports and made the highest teams were Joanne Henry, Clara Stadler, Donna Nadler, Patsy Gibbens, Betty Drechsler, Dolly McArthur, Irene Johnson, Lorna Swanson, Gloria Goodson, Mardelle Fletcher, and Jean Kelly.

The Torch Honor Society had several members of the class among its ranks. Marian Apland, Jean Buchholz, Patsy Gibbens, Joanne Henry, Stanley Johnson, Dolly McArthur, Richard Parent, and Louise Siefert were initiated into Torch.

Lila Ewing assisted in the sale of War Stamps, an important activity of E. H. S. during the year.

The Future Farmers of America organization must have seemed exceptionally appealing to the boys of the class, as Arnold Alseth, Russell Burfitt, Richard MacKenzie, Melvin Nelson, John Skutvik, Dale Echelbarger, Robert McNally, and Jack Johnson were sophomores who were initiated into the group.

The girls who offered their services to Mrs. Anderson as librarians were Cecelia Douglas, Patsy Bienz, Dorothy Young, Barbara Lee, Gloria Goodson, Dolly McArthur, and Louellyn Whitson.

The sophomore girls were very active in Girls' Club work throughout the year. Many of the girls were committee members, and several others were on the Girls' Club cabinet. Sue Seifert was the secretary of the Girls' Club. Clara Stadler worked for some time in the ice cream shop.

The sophomore class also boasted a member of the Thespians. Betsy Peck, through her exceptional dramatic ability, became a member of this organization during the first semester.

Freshmen

As frosh we've made a flying start,
 Our pilots are well chosen;
 We've made our mark, are very smart,
 Our ship's stick is not frozen.

Lots of Luck, Lois Olson, "Bike"

After a year of the confusion and excitement of high school life, the freshmen are finding their places.

At the first of the year one would have seen a study hall full of bewildered and yet eager freshmen making a vain attempt to call their first class meeting to order. After going through a rather irregular meeting, due to the lack of organization, the class elected Billy Ewing as their president, Lois Olson for their secretary-treasurer, Ardelle Wilcox as the vice-president, Wylie Echelbarger as sergeant-at-arms, and Connie Wilcox for the Board of Control. Gloria Winnem and Don Sanders had the important job of acting as representatives from their class on the A and B committees.

The class officers during the second semester were Warren Little, president; Marilou Eide, secretary-treasurer; Wylie Echelbarger, vice-president; Harry Case, sergeant-at-arms; and Connie Wilcox, Board of Control member. The officers for both semesters did a fine job of launching the freshman class into a most successful high school career.

All of the 144 members of the class of '46 were off to an excellent start this year by participating in one or more of the various school activities. They found that by taking part in these school functions they became a part of the general swing of things. One of the many important school activities was that of the War Stamp sales, which was efficiently handled by two freshmen girls, Shirley Ballinger and Janet Siegrist, and a sophomore, Lila Ewing. Also, Shirley Barkemeyer worked at the candy counter, and Peggy Narron, Dolores Ranieri, and Gloria Kongsle at the ice cream counter.

Representing the freshmen boys in the Future Farmers of America were Al Larson, Horace Propst, Melvin Nelson, Don Sanders, Jim Emery, John Skutvik, Jim Feeley, Vincent Bookey, John Wright and Billy Ewing, all of whom were quite active and found the work very interesting.

The freshman class as a whole was very active in sports this year, besides their regular physical education classes. Outstanding on the list of athletic freshmen boys were Al Larson and Willard Kunz, who made the second football team and whose future football ability looks very promising.

Almost all of the freshmen girls turned out for some sport, such as ping pong, volleyball, basketball, and soccer tournament, all of which were extra-curricular activities.

Joanne Blackman and Candace Marshall were the two new freshmen yell queens for the school, and they both displayed the school spirit which at times was badly needed at the various games.

Janet Siegrist and Beverly Goodwin were to be seen doing their part by assisting Mrs. Anderson in the library.

Upholding the class scholastically during the year were Pat Proctor, Allen Kretzler, Balfour Hill, Jeanette Kyler, Shirley Ballinger, Bob Downing, Shirley Barkemeyer and Douglas Jacobson.

Tommy Borgford had the opportunity, rare for a freshman, of being copy boy in Me-Shak.

The freshman girls greatly appreciated a party given for them by the senior girls. They said that they felt much more a part of high school after becoming acquainted with more of the older girls.

Eighth Grade

When we the eighth grade squadron
 Sometimes get off the course,
 We always win a pardon
 By our well-played remorse.

The officers of the eighth grade during the first semester were Nancy MacKay, president; Maynard Carlson, vice-president; and Stuart Murdock, secretary-treasurer. Billy Pitts was the Board of Control member for the eighth grade, and Shirley Craft was elected Girls' Club representative. The second semester officers were Shirley Craft, president; Johnnie Dontos, vice-president; and Stuart Murdock, secretary-treasurer.

The members of the eighth grade who took part in the Christmas play given before the student body were Henry Osborn, Shirley Craft, Richard Chittenden, Boyd Bigelow, Lois Farmer, and Barbara Daniel.

The English class of Mrs. Bliss printed a newspaper in March, and also conducted a drive to get pennies back into circulation. The class collected 300 pennies and with this money purchased wool for knitting afghans for wounded soldiers.

Mrs. Evans' guidance class responded to the war effort by making afghans. The girls also made scrap books which contained jokes and crossword puzzles. These books were sent to the Service Mens' Club and to the Naval Hospital near Seattle. Other drives were conducted for silk stockings and fats.

Members of this class who made high scholastic ratings were Mary Margaret Young, Joy Anderson, Connie Weiler, Jerry LaByer, Richard Chittenden, Shirley Craft, Barbara Daniel, Boyd Bigelow, and Maxie Lee Bowls.

The girls of the eighth grade physical education class played the freshmen girls in a volleyball game. The eighth grade girls won the first game and tied the second game.

 Second Row: Arthur Robins, Tommy Fenner, Irwin Smith, Donald Burfitt, Lester Bailey, La Trilla Smeade, Barbara Hardman, Joan Astell, Edith Barnett, Phyllis Roe, Florence Flick, Janice Duett, Lois Gay, Elsie Carlstedt, Betty Ann Engstrom, Dolores Hendricks, Fern Robins, Evelyn Cole, Gordon Tepfer, Jerry Dawes, Jim Wilson, Raymond Grover, William Turner, Mrs. Yost.

Seventh Grade

*That soon we'll soar above the clouds
 We're taking on all bets,
 For now before we've won our wings
 We make A-1 cadets.*

The first year that this class attended the high school was found to be full of activities and extended opportunities.

The class enjoyed a party in the gymnasium on December the fourth. Interesting games and dancing provided the entertainment. War stamps were given as prizes to the winners of the games.

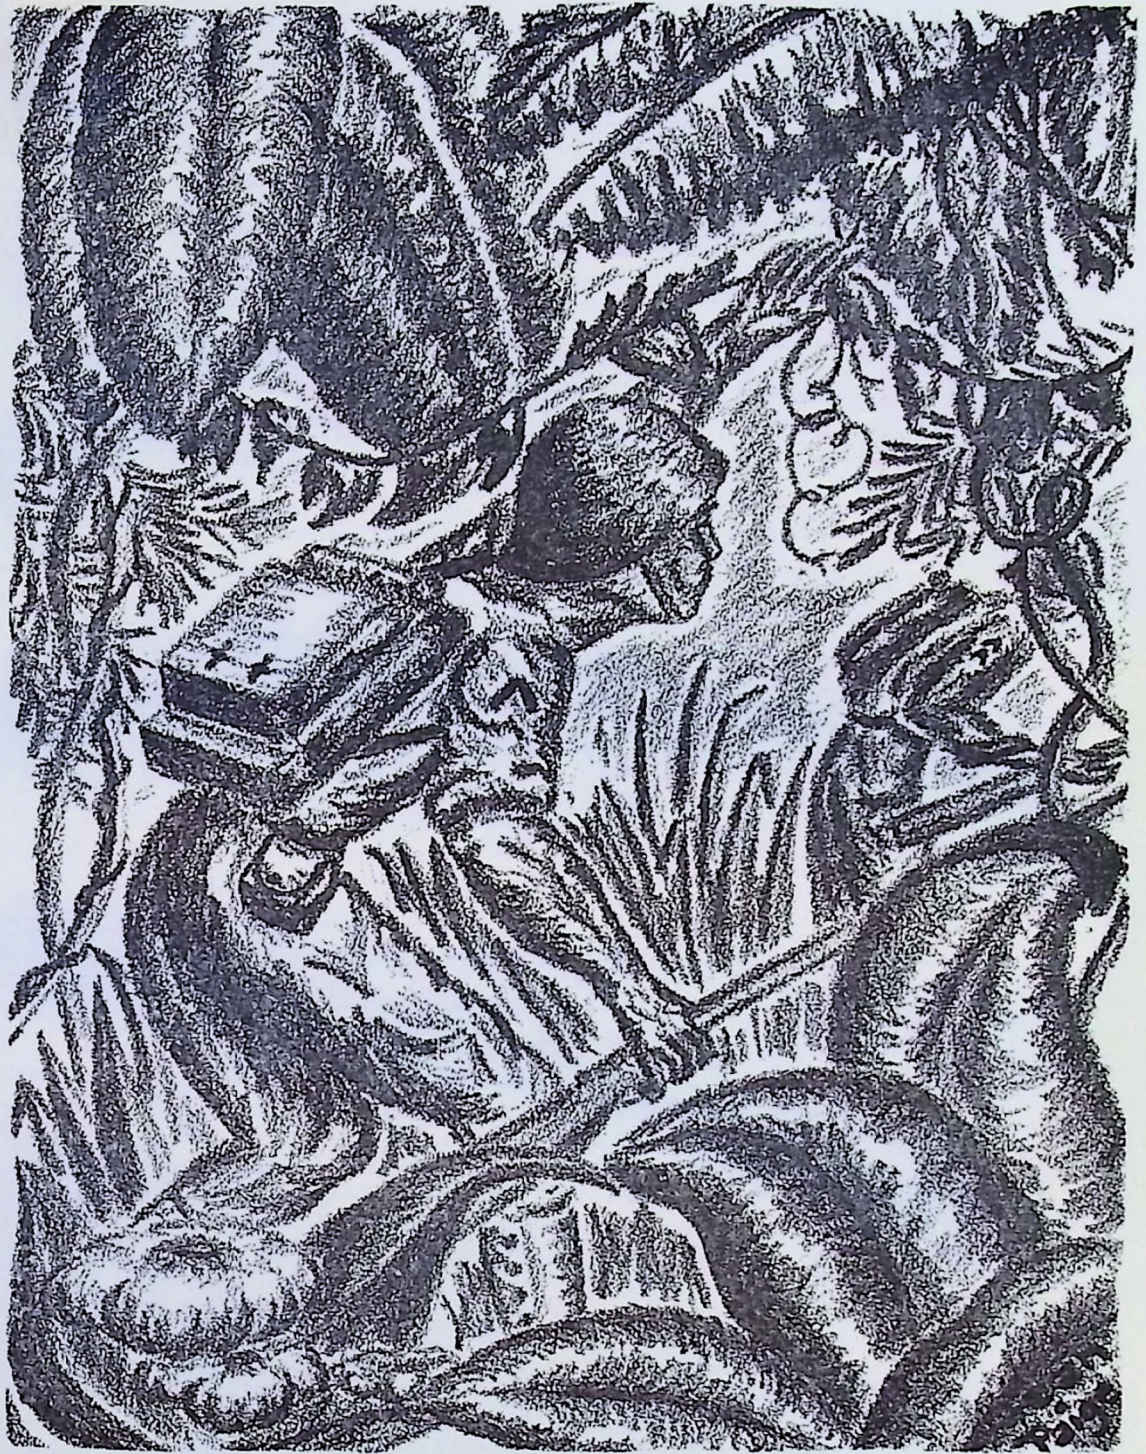

The seventh and eighth grades combined presented a Christmas play for the high school during the afternoon of December the twenty-second. The seventh graders included in the cast were Eleanor Russo, Maxine Owen, Eileen Bruner, Robert McClenahan, John Payne, and David McClelland. Jim Murray was the stage director for the play, and Rita Yost and Martha Morris were in charge of properties. The assembly was concluded with the seventh and eighth graders leading the audience in favorite Christmas carols.

Both the boys' and girls' guidance classes were very active in doing their bit toward the war effort. The seventh graders purchased more stamps and bonds than any other class in the high school during the War Stamp drive and were definitely responsible for the success of this event. The girls' guidance class, under the direction of Maxine Owen, made one hundred comfort kits for the Red Cross. Edith Barnett supervised this group in making an afghan for the Red Cross.

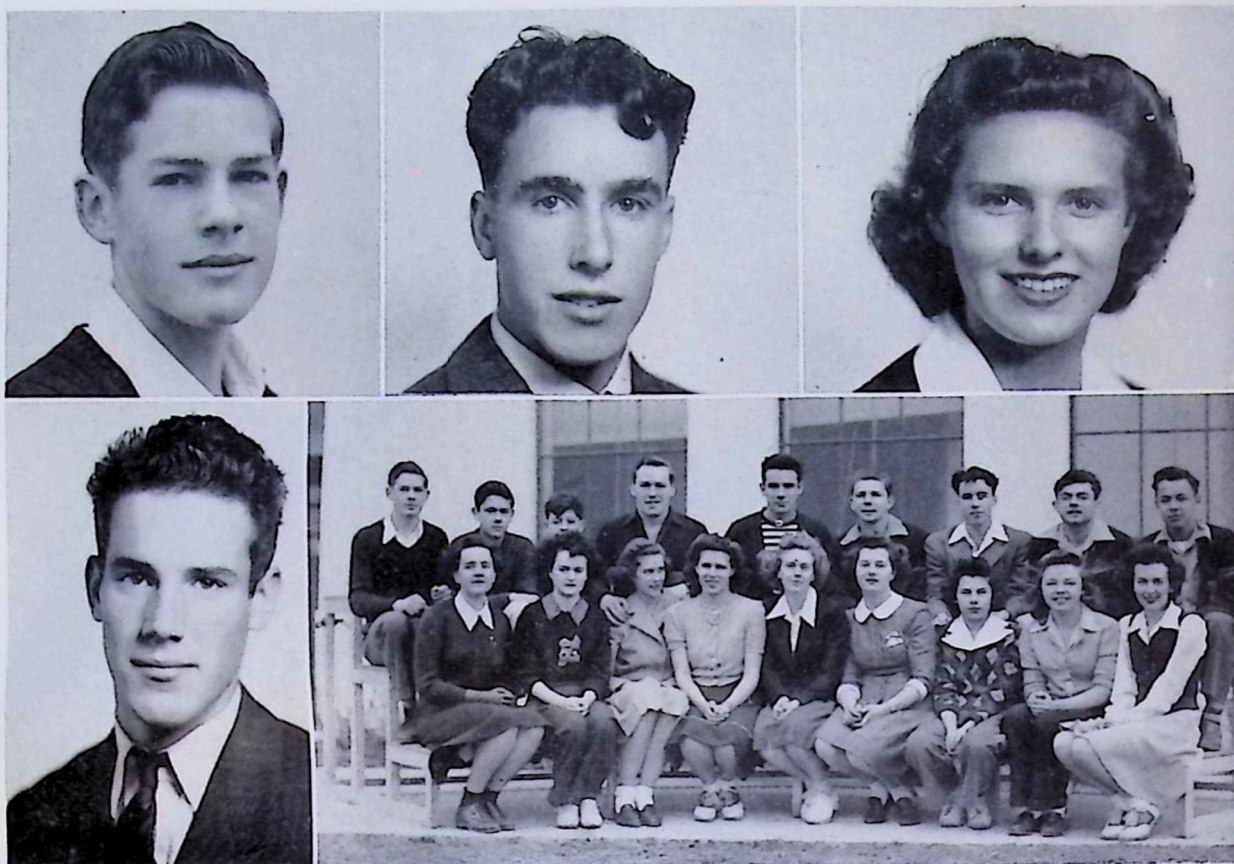

Many of the seventh grade students were listed on the honor roll this year. The students who deserve credit for doing such good work are Carolyn Armes, Joan Astell, George Hall, Barbara Hardman, William Turner, Rita Yost, and Mary Jane Shaffer.

Associated Students

The school year of 1942 and 1943 started with an assembly on September 5, 1942. The Student Body was welcomed in an address by our principal, Mr. G. Mason Hall. Superintendent Glen G. Hill then explained to the students the need of schooling and emphasized the necessity of each student's doing his best.

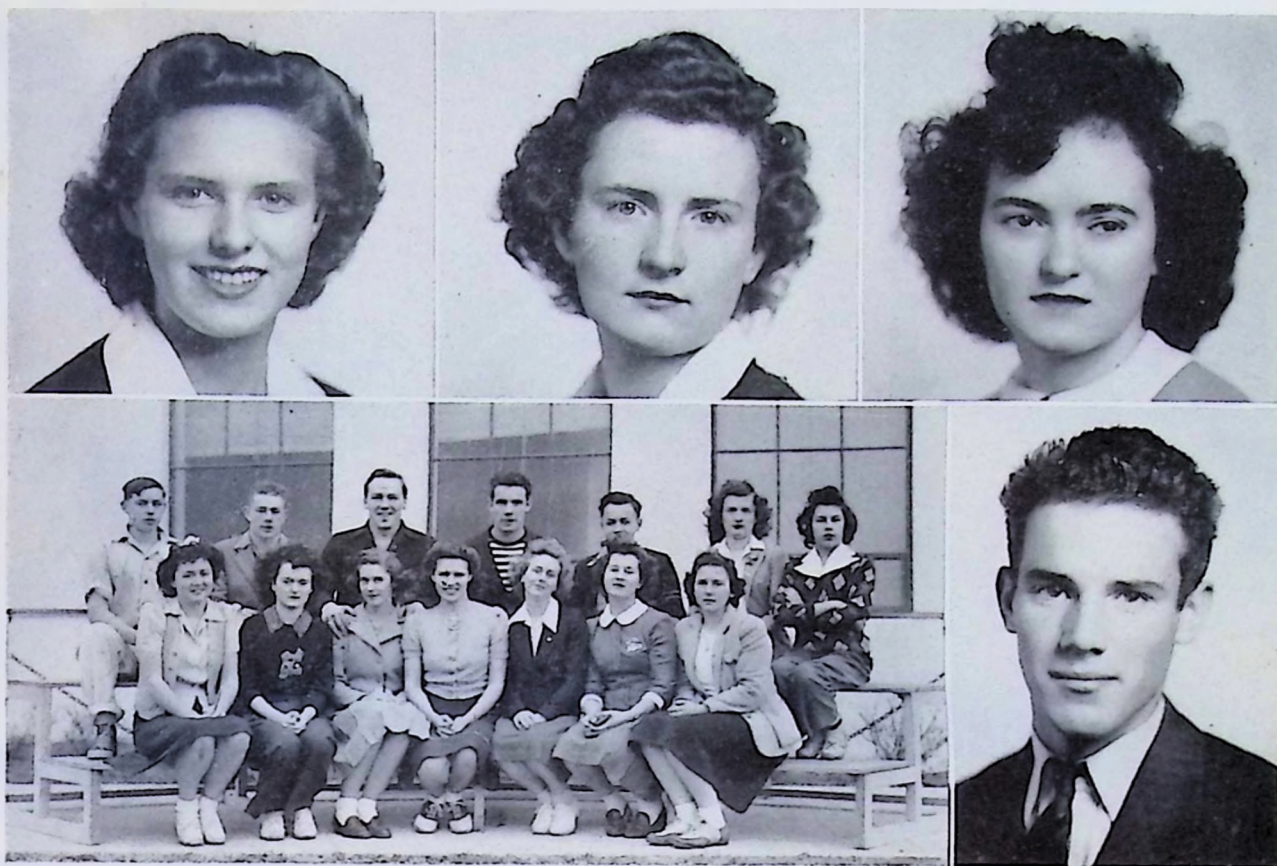

As student body president, Ted Trager presided at all assemblies and Board of Control meetings and took care of the student body business. Assisting Ted during the first semester were: vice-president, Gene Blum; secretary, Harold Wilcox; and treasurer, Mary Lou Adams.

In student body meetings at the first of the year, the students voted $3.50 as the price of activity cards, this sum not to include the annual. Later, by a three-fourths vote of the entire school, a 1943 annual was voted, at a price of $2.50. It was determined by the Board of Control that if possible a $.50 refund would be made. This was found possible later in the year and the refund was made.

One of the main topics of the Board the first semester was the buying of 15 sets of boxing gloves for boys' gym classes. Mr. Hall, who sat with the students in their meetings, gave the members ideas for activities of the student body.

Other discussions which came up in these meetings were those relating to the Inspirational Award Plaque and buying the football trophy for last year. It was decided that because of transportation difficulties, only two dances were to be given: Tolo and Homecoming. These were sponsored by the Girls' Club and by the Lettermen and Letterwomen clubs, respectively.

*They convoyed and guarded each cargo,
Scuttled each hindering foe;
They skirted some near-miss disasters,
Led all the fleets in this show;*

Associated Students

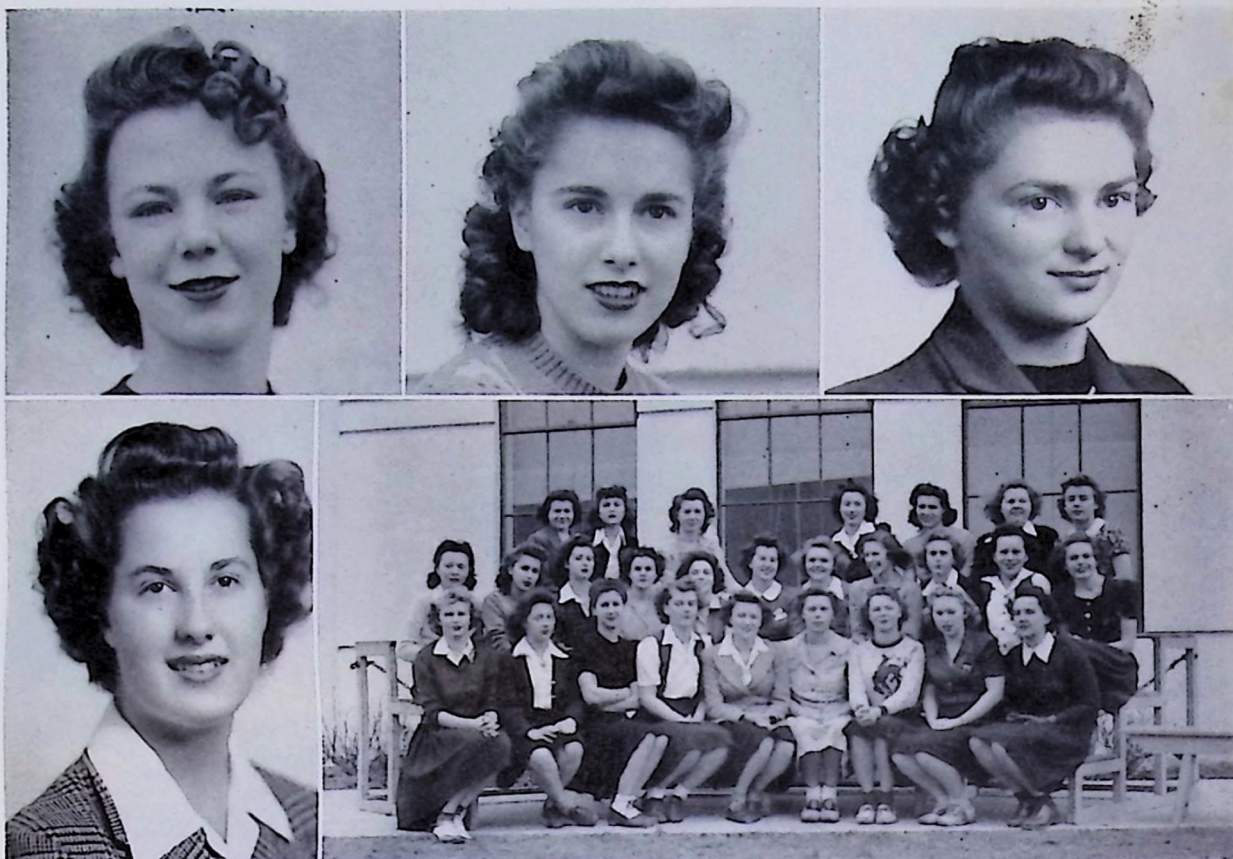

The second semester Student Body officers were Ted Trager, president; Rosalie Larson, vice-president; Mary Thompson, secretary; and Mary Lou Adams, treasurer. Ted presided for the second consecutive semester, a fact which contributed to smoothness of direction and operation.

On March 5, the student body was privileged in having the "Croatsians of Yugoslavia" for a National School Assembly. They gave entertaining and instructive folk songs and dances, together with the explanation of each instrument they used.

The Board of Control conducted a great deal of business the second semester. The more important matters brought before the Board for decision were: turning the proceeds of the Bothell game to the U. S. O., donation of the funds from the Snohomish County conference games to the Red Cross, and the refunding of 50 cents to all annual subscribers. Also the budget for next year was made out, with a considerable number of necessary changes from the old. A great deal of discussion took place on the possibility of a junior high government for the students of the seventh and eighth grades, and a committee was appointed to introduce the idea to them. The important matter of securing lumber for graduation exercises on the stage was brought to the attention of the Board. In April, an all-school assembly was sponsored by the Board of Control and was a big success. The assembly was conducted as a contest, with many students taking part, and the program included dancing, singing, tumbling, and various other acts.

Altogether the meetings were busy and constructive, with capable and willing officers.

*They tried out some bold-action tactics,
(Caused some despair and disgust);
And you've got to hand it to this crew—
B. of C. do—it—or—bust.*

Girls' Club Officers: Shirley Mauser, Louise Siefert, Virginia Ettrup, June Sorensen.

Girls' Club

The Girls' Club of Edmonds High School was the sponsor of several important social events, such as the Senior Tea, Tolo, and the Freshman Senior Party. Mrs. Margaret Rolfsness, commercial teacher, and Mrs. Kathryn Evans, eighth grade teacher, were co-advisers.

Officers of the club were June Sorensen, president; Shirley Mauser, vice-president; Louise Siefert, secretary; Virginia Ettrup, first semester treasurer, and Maxine Sylvia, second semester treasurer. All have spent an active year in the club.

Permanent committees were chosen for the welfare of the club. The most important committee this year was that of Club Shop. Those who merit special recognition for their outstanding work are: Patty Hill, Jeanne Swanson, Nancy Sorensen, Lois Hathaway, for sales management of ice cream; Virginia Ettrup, Louise Alseth, Rosalie Larson, Marilyn Cooper, Mary Thompson, for candy; Shirley Ballinger, Janet Siegrist, for war stamps and bonds.

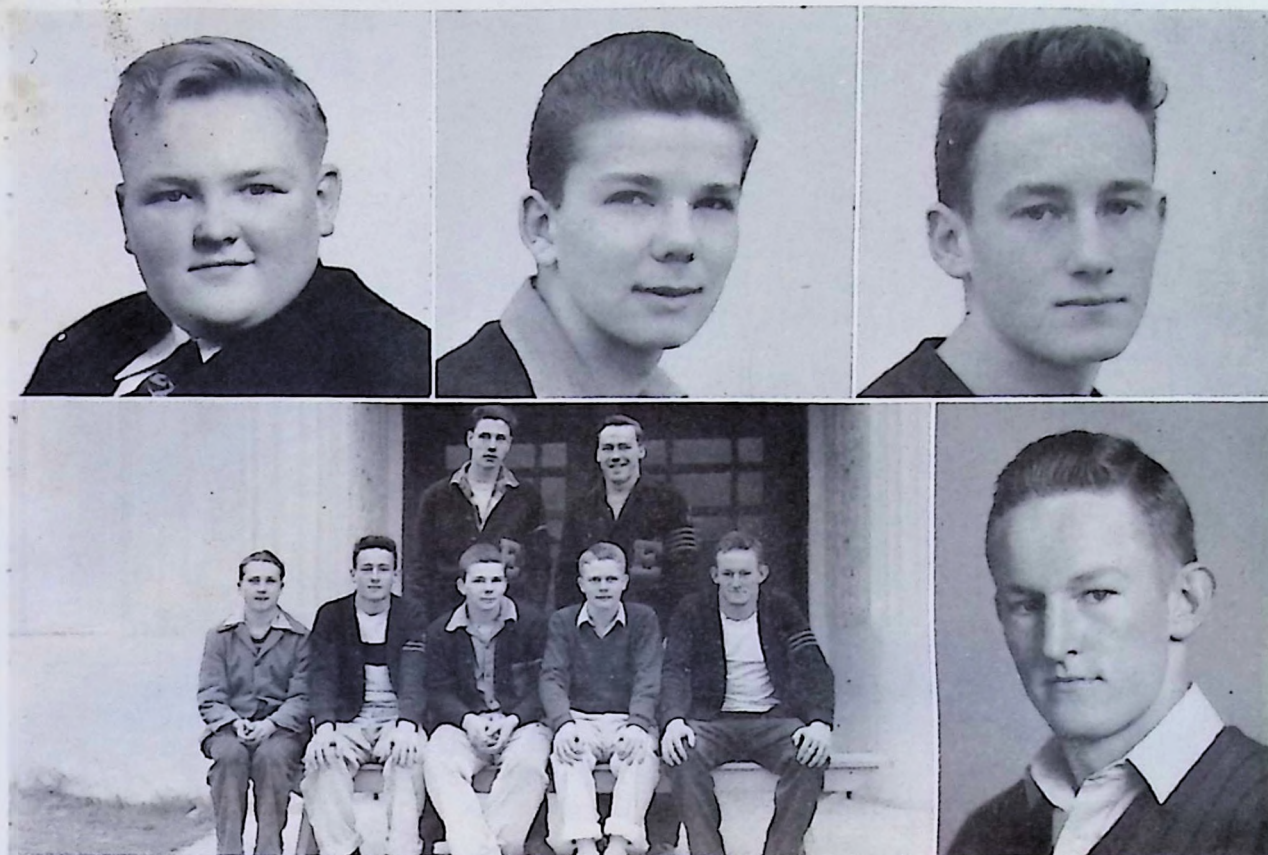

Tolo, "A Trip to South America", which was held on November 20th, was the highlight of the season, for it was the only formal dance of the year.

Snohomish County Girls' Club did not hold their spring and fall conferences this year. Last year at the spring conference, June Sorensen was elected president for the 1942-43 term.

Grade school counselors were Cathryn Sater, Edmonds; Jean Hill and Helen Johnson, Alderwood. These counselors from the high school attended all meetings of the grade school.

This year "Big Sisters" were formed in the high school. Each senior had two "Little Sisters" from the freshmen class. They acquainted the girls with activities and helped them with any of their problems. A party, at which the seniors acted as hostesses, helped the freshmen become acquainted with the other girls. Meetings of "Big and Little Sisters" were held the second week in each month.

The second week in April the Girls' Club sponsored a courtesy week, stressing courtesy in school and at home.

BOYS' CLUB Officers: Harold Skutvik, Kenneth Blendheim, Carl Trager, Don Meyring.

Boys' Club

The Boys' Club of Edmonds High School has been the sponsor of many activities this year. Under the leadership of Mr. Harold Silvermail, adviser, and Mr. Clarence Fitzgerald, co-adviser, the club's programs were successfully carried out.

The officers of the club were Don Meyring, president; Carl Trager, vice-president; Kenneth Blendheim, secretary-treasurer.

The Club's main activity this year was the sponsoring of the intramural program, which consisted of volleyball, baseball, basketball, and boxing. This took the place of the many activities that had to be curtailed, such as the fishing derby, tumbling team, wrestling matches, puppet shows, photo club, and airplane display.

At the first of the year Don Meyring was chosen to head the committee to change the Boys' Club constitution, so that the club would be better organized. The main committee this year was the Ground Clean-Up Committee, whose purpose was to keep the campus clean. The members of this committee were Don Meyring, George Rice, and Rodney Hedlund. Five other chairmen were: Harold Bucklin, program; Welcome Wamsley, program of work; Bob Kallstrom, finance; Jack Thompson, employment committee.

The Night of Mystery, October 9, was the only show of the year to be held by the Boys' Club. The proceeds were used to buy tumbling mats for the Physical Education classes.

At one of the meetings Mr. Gus Swanson showed his motion pictures of the football games of last season.

Unfortunately the traditional "Dads' Night," to which all the boys have looked forward with great enthusiasm, had to be omitted this year because of the lack of transportation facilities.

The purpose of Boys' Club, however, which is to promote fellowship among the boys of the school and prove that an organization of all boys in school can function smoothly and provide a program of genuine interest to its members, has been sustained

Echo

Grace Demmery, Scotty McClenny, Mrs. Marjorie Murphy.

The 1942-43 Echo, published under war time conditions, had as its theme patriotism and was dedicated to the graduates of Edmonds High School now in the armed forces.

Grace Demmery was chosen editor by Mrs. Marjorie Murphy, our staff adviser. Associate editors were Kathleen Ryan and Elizabeth Plunkett.

The business management was under Scotty McClenny, manager, and Cathryn Sater and Joan Applegate, associate managers. Staff members were Barbara Webb, Shirley Mauser, Lillian Peterson, Lorraine Eisen, June Sorensen, and Averill Whitlatch.

Administration copy was in charge of Nancy Sorensen.

Assisting Gloria Halstead with class organization were Helen M. Johnson, senior copy; Kathleen Ryan, Senior Prophecy; Patty Hill, junior copy; Lorna Swanson and Clara Stadler, sophomore copy; Pat Davis, freshman copy; Barbara Daniel and Joyce Plumb, eighth grade copy; and Rita Yost, seventh grade copy.

Shirley Nelson was in charge of Associated Students. Assisting her were Beth Notar and Bob Whiting, Girls' and Boys' Clubs; Belle Supplee, Student Body; Elizabeth Plunkett, Echo; and Marilyn Cooper, Wireless.

Activity write-ups were directed by Patricia Pickett. On her staff were Marguerite Milton, Thespians; Eugenie King, Lettergirls; Alan Langlois, Lettermen; Marilyn Cooper, Quill and Scroll; Mary Lou Adams, Torch; Louise Alseth, Ad Club; Kent Echelbarger, Future Farmers; Jean Taylor, Senior Play; Gloria Tutmark, Junior Play; Jeanne Swanson, Orchestra; Scotty McClenny, Boys' Glee; Averill Whitlatch, Band; Cathryn Sater, Chorus; and Shirley Nelson, Girls' Glee.

Girls' and Boys' Sports were written by Virginia Ettrup and Alan Langlois.

The art work was under the capable and cooperative supervision of Miss Loretta McSorley. The staff was composed of Sallie Horning, art editor, Donna Wilcox, associate art editor, Deane Yocom, Mildred Hanson, Jean Paige, Shirley Ballinger, Mary Thompson, and Joann Boulls.

Back Row: Scotty McClenny, Kent Echelbarger, Averill Whitlatch, Alan Langlois, Garrie Herring, Jeanne Swanson, and Pat Pickett.

Under the supervision of their new adviser, Miss Ilene Droz, the Wireless staff began the year with Kathleen Ryan as editor.

The first week was no exception to the usual mad rush to make deadlines and secure news, for the staff, which was small in comparison to those of other years, determined to publish their first paper the first week of school.

Assisting the editor were Marilyn Cooper as associate editor, Barbara Webb as managing editor, and Joan Applegate as exchange editor. Grace Demmery, June Sorensen, Bob Cox, Marguerite Milton, and Virginia Ettrup were staff reporters.

Smaller still was the second semester staff, which worked under the leadership of Editor Marilyn Cooper. The only three newcomers to the group were Alan Langlois, who assisted as associate editor, Mabel Hayes, and Ralph Henry. Others retained on the staff were June Sorensen, Marguerite Milton, Joan Applegate, and Exchange Editor Barbara Webb.

Freshman Tommy Borgford served as copy boy both semesters.

During the school year the journalism classes entered several Quill and Scroll contests. In an editorial contest, held in the fall, Marilyn Cooper received honorable mention for her Christmas editorial. In the headline contest, held at the end of the first semester, Bob Cox received first place award in the Pacific coast states.

At the close of the year all the second semester papers were sent to the Quill and Scroll headquarters at Chicago, Illinois, where they will be judged and given a rating.

This year, the Wireless retained the Quill and Scroll International First Place Award and the National Press Association All American rating for 1941 and 1942.

The main emphasis of the Wireless throughout the year was placed upon the Schools at War Program. In every possible way the school paper has backed up the sale of war bonds and stamps.

TITLE: "Reserve Two For Murder"

DATE: December 11, 1942

DIRECTOR: MISS CURRY

"I saw him!"

"You shut up!"

"I won't do it! I'm going to tell!"

"Oh, yes, you will, you little brat!"

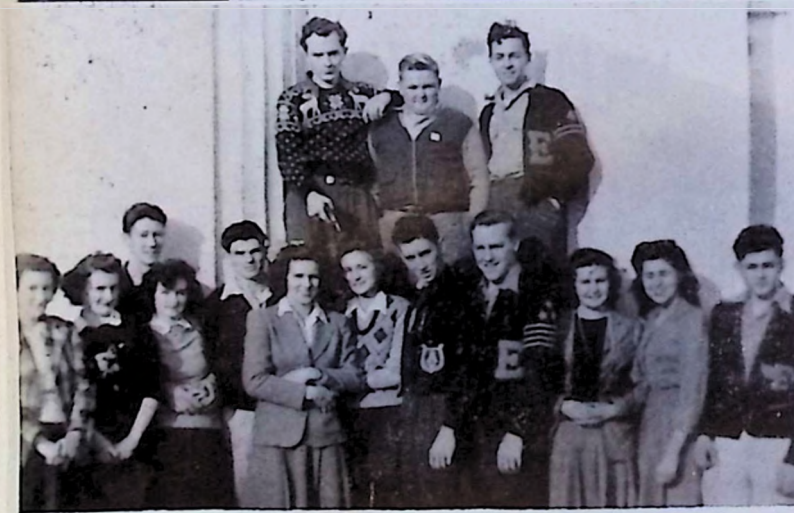

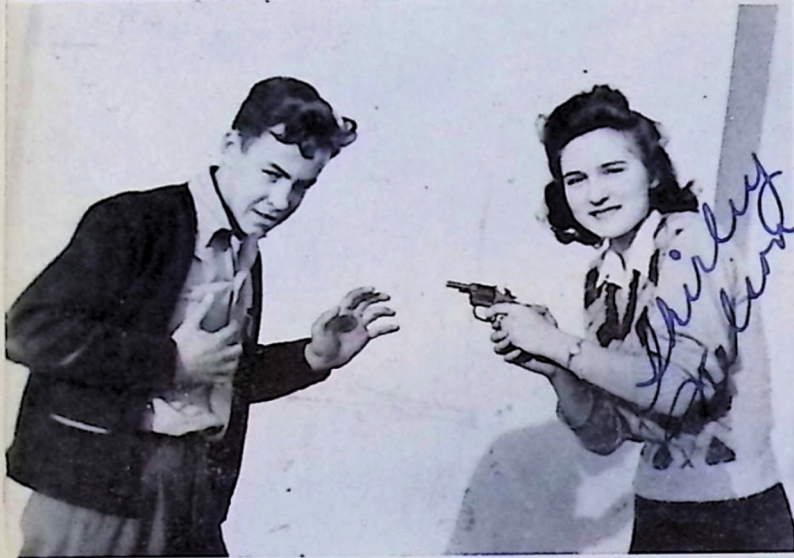

"You don't know anything about it, so shut up and sit down!"

Oh, such language! But that's the way it went between the "little" girl, Mary Thompson, and her mother, Marilyn Cooper. Little did they know how deeply they were becoming involved in a moider plot.

Remember the inspector, Ralph Henry, and his very humble assistant, Dick Coyne? (Poor inspector, he thought he knew so much!) And that "oh-deah," snooty, stuckup babe, Shirley Nelson, the one with the ermine wrap? It was all just too, too preposterous! The doctor, Harold Bucklin—mmmmm, those shoulders!—he looked more like a football player!

SWISH!!!! Did you see something blue go up on the stage? That was just the pretty usherette, Rosalie Larson, who was trying to keep that handsome producer, Jack Larmore, from saying too much. Her sister, Barbara Webb, wasn't a bad bad-actor, either. The policeman, Dick Solver, was a riot; the man with the little black book, Jack Thompson, and his accomplice, Harold Skutvik, were mystery itself. No????

As to the setting, like something out of the Arabian Nights it looked, when the curtain rose on the first scene. Fast and furious, mad and murderous, shiekish and shriekish—such was the play that slew the audience with its thrills and chills.

Junior Play

"AS OTHERS SEE YOU"

A play about an American family

By George Milton Savage

Presented by the junior class of the Edmonds

High School on April 23, 1943

Cast of Characters

Mary Lou Miller	Patty Hill
Barbara Bell	Marilyn Johnson
Marie Spearman	Donna Wilcox
Joan Miller	Jeanne Swanson
Mr. Miller	Jack Jones
Edna Miller	Joann Ellison
Mrs. McGovern	Nancy Lou Sorensen
Mrs. Randall	Evelyn Wilson
Jack Randall	Bob Whiting
Phil Galloway	Alan Langlois
Carl Dorgan	Carl Trager

The familiar phrase "bringing up father" fitted the junior play to a "T". The youngest Miller girl, Mary Lou, proved quite competent in educating her father, as these lines indicate:

Mary Lou: It's just fathers generally that are difficult. There are things about a girl they have trouble understanding; but you're trying, father, and that's important.

Mr. Miller: You're a strange girl, Mary Lou. Every time I try to give you a talk, you up and give me one.

Mary Lou: It's just a matter of who needs it most.

Student assistants included Maxine Sylvia and Gene Blum, who were prompters; Beth Notar and Lois Hathaway, "props", Gloria Tutmark, programs; Donna Wilcox, painter of the mural; Gene Blum, business manager.

Thanks are due Mr. Jacobson and his stage crew and especially to Mrs. Bliss, who directed the play.

Bottom: Donna Wilcox, Marilyn Johnson.

Torch

Lament of a Torch Would-Be

*I go to school day after day
But never seem to pass;
The only time I got an "A"
Was when they rationed gas.*

The Torch Honor Society launched into another active year, with Cathryn Sater serving as president, Kathleen Ryan as vice-president, Elizabeth Plunkett as secretary, Alan Langlois as treasurer, and Mrs. Anderson as adviser.

The usual initiation of neophytes was held in November, and in December members ushered for the senior play.

As the highlight of its activities, Torch had charge of the "Schools At War" program, presenting in February an assembly that aroused the students and greatly increased the bond and stamp sales. After taking these tasks in hand, the Torch Society had a busy year carrying them out to its satisfaction.

Future Farmers of America

Under Mr. Harold Silvernail, Kent Echelbarger, president the first semester, and Gerald Bookey, president the second semester, activities of the F. F. A., although curtailed this year, included tractor work, clearing land, repairing farm machinery, and swine projects.

The scope of the swine projects was increased by five purebred Chester White gilts raised by the boys. Those receiving the young pigs were: Russell Burfitt, Horace Propst, Albert Larson, John Wright, and Vernon Wray.

Because of gas rationing, the usual number of judging contests could not be held; however, at the one held at Lake Stevens, the Edmonds Chapter took second place. Those entering were Harold Skutvik, Dan Brooks, John Skutvik, and Bill Ewing.

Honoraries

Letterwomen

The Letterwomen began their activities this year as co-sponsors of the Homecoming Dance on November 6.

The feature attraction of the year was a volleyball game between the Letterwomen and the Lettermen. After a tough fight, the boys came out the victors.

Officers for the year were: president, Virginia Ettrup; vice-president, Jean Hill; secretary-treasurer, Beatrice Arrowood. At the end of the first semester, Virginia, a mid-year graduate, turned her duties over to Jean Hill.

The customary initiation banquet for the neophytes was held February 10. Those initiated were: Nancy Sorensen, Lois Hathaway, Mildred Sweet, Grace Demmery, Patricia Pickett, and Miss Smythe.

Lettermen

The Lettermen chose Harold Bucklin, the only four-striper in the club, to lead them, and voted him the inspirational award given for football. For basketball, Don Meyring was chosen to receive the coveted inspirational award.

Ted Trager, a three-striper, will be succeeded next year by Carl Trager as football captain. Kent Echelbarger has also earned three stripes in football.

To enter Lettermen, a boy must have earned a required number of quarters in football or basketball, of innings in baseball, or of games in tennis. In track, one must earn six points to gain his membership.

Upon earning his award, he may buy a lettermen's sweater with as many stripes as awarded him in that certain sport.

Honoraries

Quill and Scroll

With Miss Ilene Droz as adviser, the first meeting of the Homer A. Post chapter of Quill and Scroll was held November 24, 1942. At this meeting, ten new members were initiated.

Bob Cox was chosen president; Grace Demmery, vice-president; and Marilyn Cooper, secretary-treasurer.

In the Pacific Coast section of the National Quill and Scroll headline contest held in February, Bob Cox took first place, and Marilyn Cooper won honorable mention in the editorial contest.

In the spring, Ralph Henry, Mabel Hayes, Alan Langlois, and Elizabeth Plunkett were initiated.

Thespians

Troupe number 424 of the Thespian National Honor Society, held its first meeting of the year to elect officers. Joan Applegate was elected president, and Betsy Peck secretary.

In mid-year, Mary Thompson, Rosalie Larson, Barbara Webb, Harold Bucklin, Shirley Nelson, and Ted Trager were initiated into the organization.

During the second semester, a mixer was held, proceeds going to the "Stage Door Canteen." Also, under the leadership of Mrs. Bliss, the group presented "Land of the Free" in an all-school assembly.

Ad Club

With Miss Loretta McSorley as their new adviser, the Ad Club elected Louise Alseth president. A new Ad Club room was obtained off the library. It has been the duty of the Club to make posters advertising events. The distribution of these posters was handled by Bill Crump and Jim Ballou. Especially good were the posters placed throughout the building to further the drive which made this Echo possible.

Some of the very active members have been Sallie Horning, Donna Wilcox, and Mildred Hanson.

Bottom Row: Rosalie Larson, Mary Thompson, Kathleen Ryan, Sallie Horning.

Honoraries

Stage Crew

The Stage Crew, under the leadership of Mr. Duncan Jacobson, elected Max Howlett as stage manager.

Although somewhat handicapped by the lack of equipment and materials, they set the stage for the senior and junior plays, the all-school assembly, and many other presentations.

The eight members of the stage crew are Lois Hathaway, Jack Larmore, Ted Trager, Carl Trager, John Loudon, Joann Ellison, Melodie Lawson and Max Howlett.

Averill Whitlatch and Ralph Sorensen were initiated as new members in the spring.

Librarians

The increased number of students in our school has added to the difficulties of checking the 3,000 odd books in our library. This is only one of the many tasks accomplished by this well organized group of librarians.

Under the efficient guidance of Mrs. Anderson the following people undertook the job of keeping our library in order: Dolly McArthur, Bob Downing, Betty Maurer, Audrey Cralle, Barbara Lee, Janet Siegrist, Cecilia Douglas, Jim Pantley, Beverly Goodwin, Patsy Bienz, Gloria Goodson, Dorothy Young, and Mabel Williamson.

Schools at War

The Schools at War Program, sponsored by the Torch Honor Society, was organized during the first semester. It was the policy of this campaign to create interest in the present war by stressing the importance of saving, serving, and conserving.

This program was greatly instrumental in increasing the sale of war savings stamps, in conserving material which is needed by the armed forces, and in giving the students an incentive to serve in civilian defense.

Mrs. Hallie B. Anderson was adviser.

Band

Although small in numbers and composed almost entirely of freshmen, the high school band, under the direction of Mr. William H. Osborn has made good progress. Owing to the difficulties of transportation and the fact that many of the members live in outlying districts, it was impossible for them to play at night functions; however, they played at several of the daytime activities.

Some new equipment was purchased and also some new music and textbooks. Elizabeth Plunkett acted as student director.

Coming as a surprise, a war song, "Keep Your Chin Up" was written by Mr. Osborn. It was learned by the choral groups, and enjoyed by the whole student body.

"KEEP YOUR CHIN UP"

Keep your chin up,—now is the time to go.
Place your bets on Uncle for more than just
"to show."

Buy more bonds—dig up scrap—
Take one darned good punch at the Jap.
Keep your chin up—we'll be going strong,
When everyone is doing his bit to help the cause along.

We say again to Europe, we say it to China too—

You'll hear no more of Hitler when we get thru.

Seated: Anna Bigler, Deane Yocom, DeLoris Buxton, Selma Crymes, Mary Thompson, Howard Anderson, Neil Haley, Dick Knipe.

Orchestra

Owing to the large loss by graduation of Edmonds musicians, the orchestra was composed almost entirely of beginners. Under the direction of Miss Ilene Droz, the group practiced the seventh period every day during the first semester, but early in the second, it was discontinued because it had dwindled to too few players.

Outside of the orchestra period, string, woodwind, and brass classes for beginners were started. Other activities were a brass quartet, composed of Neil Haley, Keith Schoner, Bob Williams, and Dick Knipe, and a violin trio, made up of Patricia Pickett, Louie Ellingsen, and Martin Dahlgren.

The orchestra, because of being so small and newly organized, was unable to play at the usual school functions or enter the Everett Music Festival as in previous years.

On October 29, a Hallowe'en party was held, with Ralph Henry as master of ceremonies. The committees were: refreshments, Mary Lou Eide and Martin Dahlgren; entertainment, Dick Solver; and clean-up, Keith Schoner.

This year, the music organizations chose student directors. Marilyn Cooper directed the orchestra.

Chorus

The Edmonds High School Chorus, under the direction of Miss Ilene Droz, had a very successful and interesting year.

At one of the first all-school assemblies the chorus presented a new school song to the student body. Among their other activities were Christmas carols in the halls and an appearance before the townspeople shortly before Christmas. Rosalie Larson is the student director of the Chorus.

In early spring, the chorus sang in a series of programs, ending with the spring festival in May.

Girls' Glee Club

Although the Girls' Glee Club began the year with a small number, by spring their voices were more than thirty strong. At Christmas time, the girls went caroling and also participated in several assemblies in March and April. Under the able leadership of Miss Ilene Droz, the girls spent an enjoyable year, with practices on three days of the week.

An octet, formed the second semester in addition to Glee, sang at the Edmonds Music Club on February 9.

Boys' Glee Club

Under the supervision of Miss Ilene Droz, the Boys' Glee Club was active in different functions during the year. On November 12, they sang for the Edmonds High School P.-T. A. Among the numbers the boys gave were "Prayer of Thanksgiving," and the new popular war song "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition."

During the second semester several new members were added. They were Kent Echelbarger, Don Shipley, Tom Johnson, Wylie Echelbarger, Leonard Shipley, David Lozott, Marvin Cross, Harold Rasmussen, and Gene Blum.

Football

They did it again!

With everlasting determination, the Edmonds Tigers, under the direction and training of Coach Warren Bieber, who has brought us football fame for the past fifteen years, have achieved the honor of being co-champs in the Snohomish County "A" League for the third successive year.

Just two weeks before the first game, a non-conference game with Bellevue, the Tigers had their first turn-out of twelve returning lettermen, only three of whom were first on the team last season, and thirty-six more boys.

Downing the Bellevue boys, 19-2, showed the Edmonds Hi fans that those two weeks before the game were composed of plenty of hard work.

Although Kirkland also is not in our conference league, conquering the Kangaroos and holding them scoreless (25-0) was one of the big victories of the season.

Edmonds 12-O'Dea 14.

After the Edmonds eleven built up a 12 to 7 lead by good football, an O'Dea halfback leaped into the air and intercepted a Tiger pass. The heartbreaker of the game was his race across the goal for the winning tally in the closing minutes.

Edmonds 7-Arlington 0.

The great passing attack didn't seem to work out for the Eagles this season; although they completed many, they were still downed. Our team, throwing one pass for a touchdown, won the game, which made the first conference win.

Edmonds 0-Snohomish 0.

This was the real test!—Two good teams battling it out, neither able to score in this very decisive game. Although Edmonds players had the advantage with more yardage and completed passes, they could not cross the goal.

Center Row of Pictures: Dan Ewing, Rodney Hedlund, Kent Echelbarger, Tom Bookey, Ken Blendheim, Frank Cotterill.

Football

Edmonds 32-Monroe 6.

In this contest, the Bearcats of Monroe were beaten down by sheer physical superiority. No match for the Tigers, they made their only touchdown against our reserves.

Edmonds 18-Mt. Vernon 0.

Unbeaten until they met the Tigers, the Mt. Vernon eleven were thoroughly trampled. One of the outstanding plays of the year was the 83-yard plunge by Bucklin.

Edmonds 21-Marysville 6.

Plunging to a score in the first half, the Tomahawks held the lead 6-0. After fighting like mad in the second half, our team came out on top in the typical Tiger finish. When the boys made 19 first downs against their co-champs of last season, they certainly made an outstanding record.

Edmonds 7-Bellingham 31.

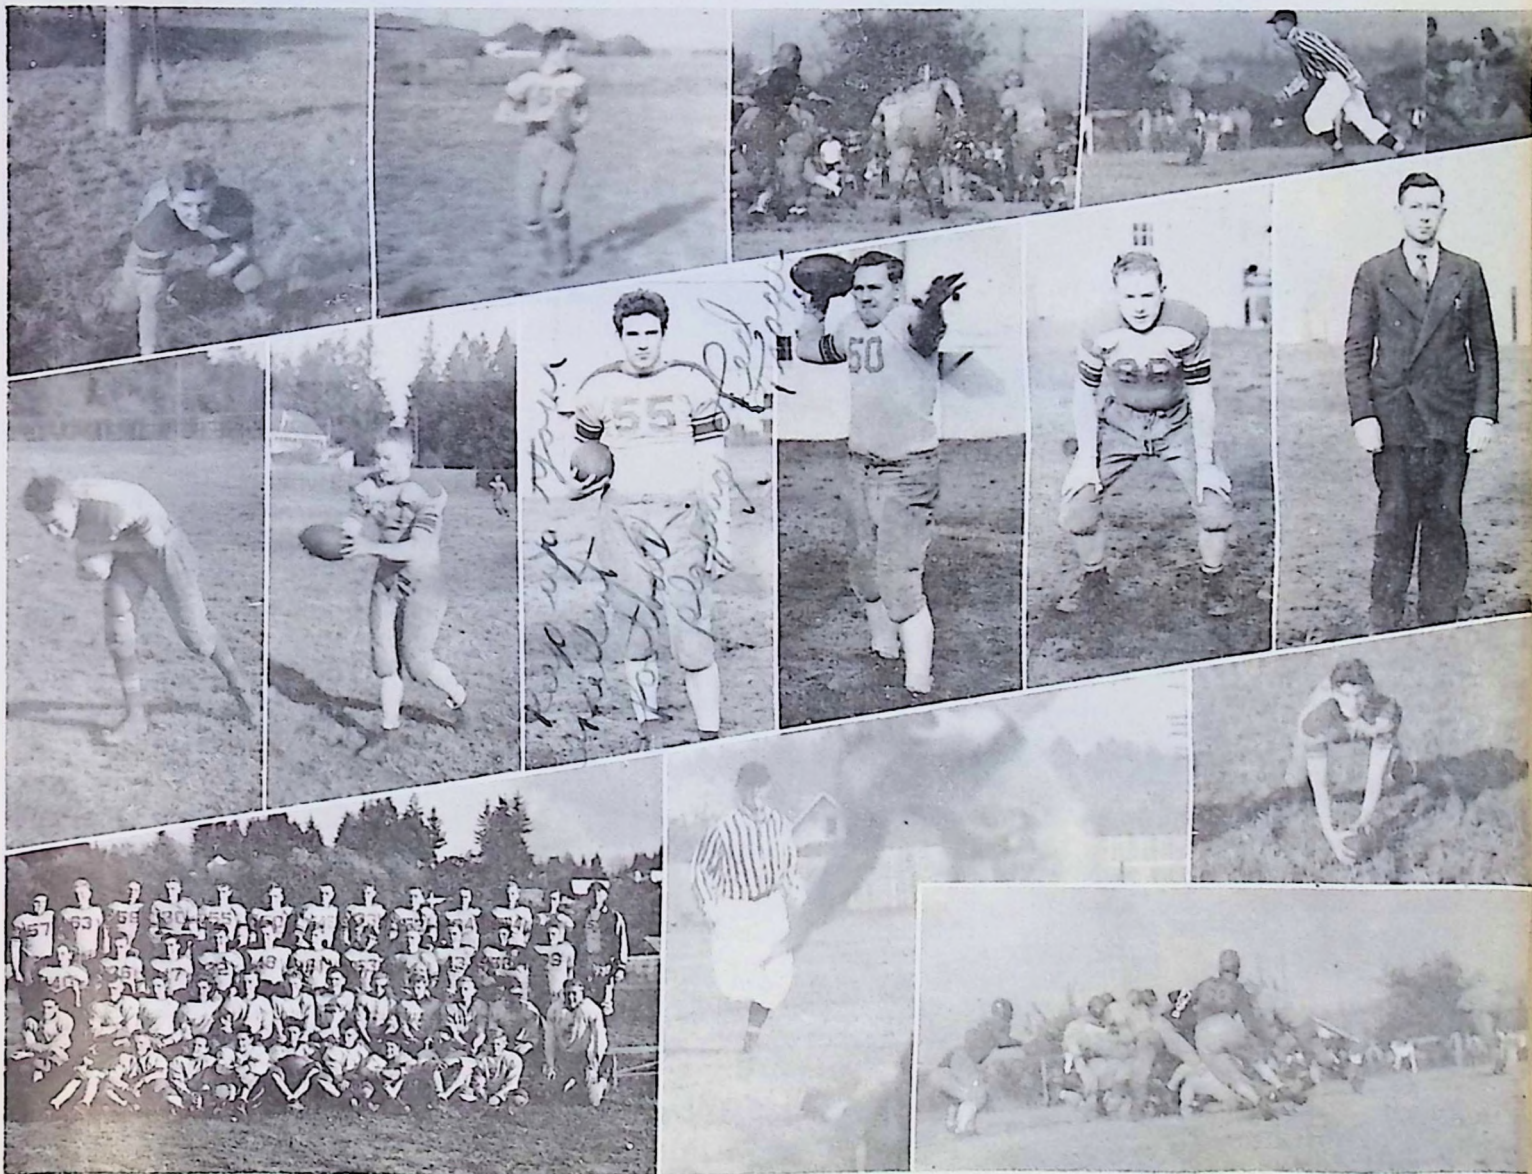

The Red Raiders, by deception and expert passing, built up a 25-0 lead in the first half. Coming back in the second half, Edmonds outplayed and outscored their opponents 7-6. It was a rough contest with one of the strongest teams in the state this year.

Our eleven had a versatile and powerful offense, all backs and ends scoring touchdowns and amassing a total offense gain of 2200 yards.

It is doubtful that any other team in this state has played in five different leagues as we have this season. They were the Lakeside, Parochial, North West, Cross-state, and Snohomish County Leagues.

Edmonds total points: 141; opponents' total points: 59.

Basketball

Under the supervision of our new coach, W. J. Hoban, the Edmonds Tigers fought through one of their toughest seasons. Learning to perfection in one season new offensive and defensive play, brought about by a change of coach, is not to be expected. Smoothness develops gradually and takes time to show.

We want to give our heartiest congratulations to Coach Hoban for his wonderful work with the Tiger team. He has done a job to be proud of, which has not gone unnoticed.

Arlington, the top team of the "A" League and winner of the Snohomish County Tournament, was our first opponent in league play. The team defeated us three times and also won their Arlington Invitational Tournament.

In the Arlington tourney, we beat Marysville by a big margin, but in league play Marysville won both games by about seven points. Snohomish beat the Tiger five once and lost to us twice. The last game gave us the most pleasure because we downed them on their home floor, 33-29. Our easiest opponent proved to be Monroe, whom we defeated twice. In tournaments and league plays, the Tigers won six games and lost eight.

During the Snohomish County Tournament, Babe Bucklin made 55 points for the Tigers.

Leading the Tiger five as Captain was Don (Charlie) Meyring, who made the highest total of points in all games. Other first string players were Carl Trager, Jack Jones, Gene Blum, Bill Tuson, Curtis Larson, and Edgar Lee.

Intramural Sports

This year, the Boys' Club, under the leadership of Mr. Silvernail and Mr. Fitzgerald, began the program of intramural sports, which has proved its usefulness in many ways. It has given many students the chance to prove their qualities to themselves and to others. It is serving as an example of what determination in anything will accomplish. In addition, this extra exercise the boys are receiving is acting as a physical build-up.

The entire Boys' Club has been divided into twelve teams, six in each bracket. Each team has a captain who has proved himself strong in athletic activities.

The first sport entered into was volleyball, which lasted approximately one month and a half. The season had a bang-up finish when teams five and eleven battled it out for the championship, won finally by Rodney Hedlund's team.

Next on the intramural list was basketball, which started on January 14. After basketball came boxing and softball.

The teams and the intramural setup were handled in this manner; the games were refereed by Lettermen who have won awards in that sport. The senior manager was Harold Skutvik. Omar Tharp, junior manager this year, will take over as senior manager next year. The sophomore manager was Ray Swinton. Freshmen managers were Bill Ewing, Tommy Borgford, and Arthur Blendheim.

The plan of intramural sports, in spite of the natural element of try-out, has had a very successful first year. It will be continued and perhaps extended next year.

*Hope you make the Minner. Best of luck.
Garrie Harring*

Girls'

Girls' sports started the school year with a new coach, Miss Eileen Smythe, a last year's graduate of the University of Washington.

Because of the conservation of gas, no sports-days were held this year, as has been the tradition for many years, so the only competitive games were between the intramural and class teams.

Under the management of Shirley Mauser, speedball started the year with a big turnout. The juniors won for the class teams and the W W's (Wonder Women), captained by Babe Ettrup, were the winners of the intramural games. Both winning teams feasted on ice cream and cake at the end of the season.

Joan Applegate managed the volleyball season. Many volleyball enthusiasts turned out, and the season was a successful one. The class team games were won by the sophomores. Mardelle Fletcher's team, named the Swing Shifters, won the elimination tournament.

The basketball teams were chosen by picking numbers from a hat. Under the management of Barbara Webb, the season, carried out in round-robin style, was an active one. All the games were played during noon hour, and this new system worked out successfully.

In the spring, the sunny weather brought the girls out of doors to begin play on the baseball diamond. Dusting off all the equipment, was Manager Jean Paige. The majority of the games were evenly matched and the baseball season was one of excitement.

Track records were kept by Manager Eugenie King. As has been the custom, at the beginning of track season each girl's record was tabulated as a trial. For weeks the girls turned out, trying to beat their first trial. At the end of the season all improvements were calculated in terms of points. Track events consisted of the running broad jump, hop-skip-jump, fifty-yard dash, wooden face, baseball distance, standing broad jump, drop kick over the goal post, soccer kick for distance, basketball distance throw, and the relay team.

The tennis tournaments were carried on in both the fall and the spring by Manager Vernice Brine. From the winners of the rounds, six girls were chosen for the tennis team, who were as follows: June Sorensen, Vernice Brine, Jean Brampton, Shirley Mauser, Shirley Nelson, and Ardelle Wilcox.

The ping-pong tournament was supervised by Manager Beatrice Arrowood. The popularity of this sport was proved by the great number of girls who turned out. Shirley Nelson placed first in singles, and Vernice Brine and Eugenie King took the first doubles title.

Helen Johnson was in charge of hiking and minor points. This year, because of many other activities and no late busses, comparatively few girls completed the hikes. Even the weather was non-cooperative, and the semi-annual ten-mile hike for the first semester was called off for lack of a sunny day. Minor sports consist of roller skating, ice skating, dancing, swimming, rowing, horse-back riding, skiing and bowling.

During the winter months a new girls' gym class was started, consisting of physical exercise to promote strength and grace. When the first stiffness wore off, these calisthenics became easy routine.

enior Prophecy

TIME: 1963. PLACE: on Yost Auto Bus—starting in Edmonds en route to Seattle. CHARACTERS: Class of 1943.

ENTER: (the bus) June Sorensen ———, an ideal modern housewife who runs two jobs.

"Good morning, George, (Evans). Haven't seen you on this run for some time."

"Morning, June. None, been taking it easy for a few days."

"Look who's coming—Dr. Bruce Dawes."

"Hello, strangers. It's been a long time. I was just up at the funeral parlors seeing a dead patient. That Trager, Kallstrom, and Wamsley Funeral Service seems quite a paying concern. I guess they have combined with Curt Larson's Engraving & Sculptoring. Tombstones, you know."

GENERAL CONVERSATION CONTINUES:

"Yes, I hear Sallie Horning, Louise Alseth, Mary Thompson, and Jim Ballou are all working up there. Their sculptoring is real art."

"Speaking of our senior class, all you have to do is look in the Daily Tribune and we can really see what they are doing."

"I like that 'Daily' part. Bob Cox changed that when he bought the paper. His editorial here is very much in favor of Rod Hedlund for Coroner. He calls him the 'people's friend'."

"Here's another; Cathryn Sater has just been elected president of the Edmonds Athletes' Wives' Club. Mary Lou Adams and Belle Supplee are charter members."

"Dick Solver and his band, featuring Shirley Nelson at the piano and Rosalie Larson as vocalist, will entertain tonight at 'The Bluff', Joan Applegate, Babe Ettrup and Barbara Webb's new Edmonds Night Club."

"Look at these headlines! Donald Henness and Elbert Thomson have done it again! This time they've succeeded in sliding down the North and South pole from the Arctic to the Antarctic in one easy slip."

"Here is an ad that says twenty-four fattened Chester White hogs for sale. Phone Echelbarger's Hog Ranch, Alderwood 5563."

"Yes, Kent's and Harold Skutvik's hogs compete every year at the state fair."

"Marilyn Cooper is making her debut at Carnegie Hall this week."

"Josephine Ray appeared at the Metropolitan last month."

"Oh, look out the window! There's Dick and John Loudon's garage and there's Johnny half way inside that engine."

"I hear Aileen Armes and Fern Date have gone into partnership and own a whole string of gas stations in Seattle."

"After the last war, nothing has stopped the women!"

"Here's something that will surprise you. Did you know Bill Crump has settled down and is a regular family man now? And Jack Larmore married a widow with two children and is living very happily in Reno, Nevada."

"Look at this news-photo of three beautiful models. Let's see, it says 'picture by staff photographer, Garrie Harring'."

"Recognize the gals? They look like Jean Taylor, Marguerite Milton, and Gloria Halstead."

"Hmmm, a radio advertisement. It says to listen to Mildred Wood and her four 'Singing Duettes', Betty Reat, Leona Rupp, Claire Masson, and Joyce Kaufman. Sounds good."

"I see where Edmonds got the football county league championship again. That makes four out of five years for Don Meyring. Good coaching, I'd say."

Senior Prophecy

"Does anybody know about this controversy between the Edmonds Shingle Mills and the Alderwood Shipyards?"

"Nothing to get excited about. Never a dull moment since H. Bucklin bought out the mills and J. Thompson took over the shipyards."

"From what I hear, I guess Harold Wilcox and Wayne Banta have both been promoted to captains on their respective oil barge and tramp steamer."

"What is this, a convention? Here's Ralph Henry. How are you, old boy?"

"Well, if it isn't! But it is! Me? Oh, I've been pretty busy these days with my Psycopathic Sanitarium for Neurotic Women. Richard Downing and Mace Gay are both working at the sanitarium now. We've a two acre tract. Quite a place. We're equipped to make over fifty women at a time. That reminds me. One of my patients informed me that not only Pat Pickett, but Helen Johnson and Lillian Peterson have leading roles in Kathleen Ryan's new Broadway play."

"It seems Marjorie Haggardt and Polly Walbring's comedy team has been signed for an hour a week on the O.P.U. network."

"Look! There goes Tom Bookey. Still driving the fuel truck, I see. I hear he bought out the company."

"Have you read Elizabeth (Pete to you) Plunkett and Jean Hill's version of modern Physics? It's quite a change from the kind I learned in high school."

"If hearsay is correct, Carmen Ekstedt and Betty Schoppert are very much in demand around microphones. They imitate everything from a crying baby to a forest fire!"

"Talk about successes, I guess Harold Rasmussen has made a fortune manufacturing bus transfers."

"Is anybody going to Scotty McClenny's lecture on International Implications of World War II tonight?"

"Getting back to the paper it seems a certain Mrs. ———, the former Alice Little, entertained the Housewives' Duo Occupation Society this week, in her Alderwood Manor home. Those present were Christine Schoentrupp and Marion Preston who, besides keeping house each day, run an employment agency, the E. H. S. school board chairwoman Florence Kennedy, and Pat Tourtellot, who runs a hamburger stand in her spare time."

"Did you know that Bill Storey is an Admiral in the Navy and is backing Glenn Burfitt's new invention the flying aircraft carrier?"

"By the way, has it occurred to you that if it weren't for the use of Dick Butcher's research laboratories and Norman Van Donge and Robert Nielson's research work, none of us would be wearing these new synthetic diamonds?"

"This brings back memories. What a class we had! Not only did Irene Birt take Hollywood by storm and establish a reputation of Garbo the second; Margaret Beach became a United Press correspondent to Mexico; Marian Plumb worked her way up to a colonel in the W.A.A.C.'s; Jean Paige and Beatrice Arrowood hold tennis doubles All-American championship for three years; pilots Jim Bentler and James Ackley broke all time records crossing the Pacific; Isabel Judd established herself as a prominent woman surgeon; Grace Demmery became one of the foremost Washington state senators; Donald Bean, Ray Weaver, Louis Bash, and Warren Nupp took over Santa Anita from Bing Crosby; and Dick Coyne won this year's Pulitzer Prize for his book on 'Personal Experiences'."

"Seattle! All out!"

"It's been swell seeing you again."

"We certainly can be proud. There never was a class like the Edmonds class of 1943."

Sad Song of Seniordom

They cut off all my curly locks,
They make me lug a gun;
I spend my days arranging rocks
Beneath the blazing sun.

My day is naught but misery,
My life is now devoid of joy;
They're going to make a man of me—
I'd rather stay a little boy.
